I was wearing a tailor made white business shirt, which was covered in blood. Not my blood! I didn't know where it came from. If I had asked the sargeant what I'd done and he said I had committed murder I would have had to believe him. He also told me to find a new address because I had been kicked out of home. I was devastated because I needed my caretaker. I couldn't take responsibility for living my life and I didn't know what to do.
